

Vintage Charlotte
www.vintage-charlotte.com
Contact: Amy Herman
vintcharlotte@gmail.com
@VTGCLT
(980) 263-0443

FOURTH ANNUAL VINTAGE CHARLOTTE SUMMER MARKET TO POP UP JULY 25th

VINTAGE AND HANDMADE SHOPPING EXPERIENCE WITH 80+ LOCAL AND REGIONAL VENDORS

CHARLOTTE (June 28, 2015) – Vintage Charlotte (known by friends and fans as simply: VTGCLT) will be popping up for their fourth annual Summer Market showcasing the best of vintage, eclectic, and handmade. The Summer Market will transform an empty warehouse at 2205 N. Tryon on July 25, 2015. This curated market includes 80+ local and regional vendors of vintage, antique and handmade goods including housewares, furniture, decor, clothing, jewelry and more. In addition to handmade and vintage shopping, there will be food and drink from some of the city's best artisanal purveyors.

In just three years, Vintage Charlotte's pop-up markets have become the place to shop in Charlotte for unique vintage finds and emerging makers. Vendor space at the market is jured and highly competitive. Many shoppers line up before the doors open to get first pick of all of the hard-to-find goods, and the markets now draw upwards of 3,000 customers in a single day.

This Summer, for the first time, Vintage Charlotte is offering a VIP Shop from 6-9pm on Friday evening before the market day. The VIP shop offers customers an exclusive opportunity to shop the 80+ Summer Market vendors before anyone else; in addition, non-profit partner, Green Teacher Network Charlotte, will host a silent auction. VIP Shop tickets ($25) include a limited edition tote bag from Enemy To Fashion, a complimentary pint from Sycamore Brewing and delicious bites from Fit You Meals, Heirloom and Tapas 51.

Founder of Vintage Charlotte, Amy Herman, states that, "Vintage Charlotte is about highlighting the incredibly amazing things going on right here in Charlotte. Every item you find here is either hand selected or expertly made. In supporting these vendors we are supporting the artistic vibrancy and economic viability of our local community. Every item has a story: not only do you get to see these incredible goods, but you get to be face to face with the folks who discover or make them."

Admission to Vintage Charlotte's Summer Market is free of charge, but if you want to beat the crowds there is an early bird admission of $5 which gets you in an hour before the doors open to the general public. Doors open at 11am, 10am for early birds.

For more information: vintage-charlotte.com